MOVIE INDUSTRY MOVING IN DOUBLE QUICK TIME

When an industry as great as motion pictures gives all the signs of a huge upheaval we may believe that something radical has taken place. Picture making has been worked down to a routine and most of them, unfortunately, have shown just that effect. A new invention, seemingly complicated yet truly simple in its fundamentals, enters the field and the veteran layman finds himself on a par with producers of long experience. And this little innovation is nothing more nor less than pictures that slug and talk.

Indeed, the "talkies" have arrived, and the producers and industry in general are, with the politicians, along the old familiar song of "Whither are we going?" For to be known that the movie industry is on the move and going somewhere, and doing it in double quick time.

"A SEMI-PUBLIC INSTITUTION"

"Wonder why there was nothing in the paper about my party—or the friends I had visiting me—or George's trip to the coast?"

These are a few of the questions that frequently come to the ears of the average country editor. If the people who ask these questions would stop to think they would realize that it is utterly impossible for the country editor to get to know half of what is going on socially in town. Nine out of ten country editors, by force of circumstances, are pretty well tied down to duties in the business office or engaged in the actual business of printing.

People are beginning to realize that after all the local paper is, to a large extent, what they themselves make it. It is their paper—it reflects or mirrors their attitude towards their town or district. "Show me the local paper and I'll tell you what kind of town it is."

"There's no news in the paper!" How many times do these people who make this remark pass up chance after chance of adding to the news by seeing that some little item about themselves or their friends is in the paper? The country paper, unlike the city daily, might almost be called a public institution, and the Editor (or "news-trustee") serves the public and makes his living—such as it is—by the editing, printing, and managing of the "public news-market." As a semi-public institution the local paper expects a little co-operation from the people it serves; that is, each and everyone is asked to take an active interest in seeing that every piece of local news is handed in or phoned to the office of this reader.

If you, dear reader, did this, and everyone did, the same, wouldn't you look forward with a great deal more interest to the reading of your local paper every week? Why not begin now?

THE GRADING OF SEEDS

For the past five years the trade in farm and garden seeds has been regulated and carried on according to the regulation of the Federal Seeds Act, which have provided for the proper grading of all classes of seeds sold to the growers. Changing conditions, more particularly in the production of cereal grains, has made it necessary that the Act be amended in certain particulars in order to conform more nearly with the present day requirements. The Act with the changes has been issued as Acts, Orders and Regulations No. 24 of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

The development of the production of seed classed as "Registered" has led to the providing of extra grades. In the original act this class of seed was covered in two grades only, namely, "Registered" and "Extra No. 1." These have been changed to "Registered No. 1," "Registered No. 2," and "Registered No. 3," all of which are thoroughly reliable for seed purposes, but the two lower grades have been provided to take care of pure varieties of seed damaged in appearance by weather conditions without impairing its vitality. By this modification large quantities of perfectly good seed, that would otherwise have been lost to commerce, have been preserved.

Another change provides for the refusal of the Minister to issue a license for new varieties of cereals of inferior quality.

This Act, among other things, names the many varieties of the weeds that are regarded as noxious in the interpretation of the Act.

EDUCATION PAYS

Throughout our country we have under the provincial governments, provision for education. In most places, education is compulsory, the law being an expression of public opinion that education is desirable, not only for the individual child but for all children. It is desirable that all be educated, and so all are taxed to pay for the educational system, regardless of whether or not they have children, or of the number of their children.

After a community has completed the provision of such services as pure water, safe milk and food, and all the other health services which protect us from disease, there remains the equally large and equally important question of personal hygiene. The health of each individual will depend fully as much upon his own actions, upon his practice of personal hygiene, as upon the protection the community health services afford him.

If personal hygiene is to be known, understood and practiced, the individual must be taught. The question we might ask ourselves is—Does health education pay?

During the past few years, there has occurred in many places a great reduction in the number of infant deaths. This reduction has taken place in the communities which have made provision for the education of mothers as to the care of their babies, and which have provided a safe milk supply. The reduction of sickness among infants is in proportion to the success achieved in instructing the mothers. The fact that fewer babies die is not a matter of chance; it results from a cause, and the cause is education. This is an example of what has occurred in other fields of health work that have been approached by education.

The human race, in civilized countries, is today, more free from disease, and enjoys a longer and a healthier life than ever before. The reason for this is the application of modern scientific knowledge to combat disease and to preserve health. Never before have the masses possessed the knowledge they now have concerning health. It repays the individual to improve his own health knowledge; it repays him to see that education in health is given to all. Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184, College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

HOW TO LIVE LONG

(Walt Mason)

A man who's lived for ninety years writes me a note, received this day, and I confess I'm moved to tears to note a patriarch so gay. "I am not feeling," he declares, "like some old wreck who's shot his bolt; despite my scant and snowy hairs, I'm lively as a plumed colt. Each day I walk o'er hill and dale, I never miss my daily trip; it's walking that has kept me hale when younger men have lost their grip. No matter what the weather is, each day I walk six miles or ten, and if you watch you'll see me glide athwart the breeze and down the glen. While countless graybeards idly dote before their glowing fires and dream, I wander in the drifted snows, or by the babbling woodland stream. I scale the mountain's granite rim, I journey by the fens and meads, and I'm as sound in mind and limb as many men of forty years." I well recall a fat old man whose age was ninety in the shade; he ate large doughnuts from a pan, and spread them thick with marmalade. I interviewed him long ago, and he declared, "I'd have you know that I am hoary, hale and strong, because I take no exercise, and rest in this, my easy chair, and eat large quantities of pies and other rich and goodly fare. I do not think an old man smart who walks around in cowhide shoes, and strains his tired and ancient heart and overworks his bones and thaws. The young man, having little sense, cavorts throughout the golden day; the old man loams against the fence and dreams the pleasant hours away. There is no sense in exercise, in labor tense that jar and lark; the old man who is truly wise lets younger men do all the work."

WHY CANADA IS PROSPEROUS

The figures given out at Ottawa, showing the final estimates of field crops in Canada for 1928, explain why Canada is prosperous. A population of less than ten millions of people, who produce in a single year $1,100,000,000 worth of grain, hay and roots, would have to be very peculiarly situated or very lacking in ordinary prudence if they could not enjoy generally good times and also convert a large share of the proceeds into capital for extending their future operations. Canadians are doing both.

The figures also make clear that western Canada's contributing, out of all proportion to population, to the national volume of farm production. Taking the four chief field crops, the three prairie provinces produced approximately 90 per cent of the wheat, 60 per cent of the oats, 80 per cent of the barley, and 90 per cent of the rye. And of the three million acres of new land put under crop, the bulk undoubtedly lies in the same provinces, and represents the breaking of new land and the permanent extension of farming operations.—Bulletin.

WHEAT POOL NEWS BULLETIN

When the 2c per bushel farm storage payment came into effect on Jan. 16th, the receipts at Alberta Pool elevators almost doubled for a considerable period. 200,000 bushels a day were received for some considerable time.

Great interest was taken in the hearing held by the Grain Commissioners on the question as to whether or not Pool members can direct their grain through line elevators to Pool terminals. A. A. McGilivray, solicitor for the grain dealers, held the Pool member, had relinquished the Pool when he signed a Pool contract. M.M. Porter, Alberta Pool solicitor, maintained that the Pool member had not deprived himself of this right given under the Canada Grain Act Decision was reserved.

A BUSY SESSION AHEAD OF THE LEGISLATURE

The Hon. Peter Baker's proposed changes in Alberta's school system is a real deal of criticism. The school boards are voicing their disapproval at the curtailment of their powers in engaging teachers and setting salaries. Public ownership is being forcibly brought to the notice of the government in their own magazine, the U.F.A., while the Liberals in caucus at Calgary are demanding that a Commission be appointed at once to go into the whole question of Power. As the Liberal leader put it, this should be done before the Calgary Power Commission swamps the Province and the International Utilities pick up what is left. The supply of water for domestic and industrial use for the towns and villages throughout the Province requires a Commission of investigation into the sources of supply for this

CANADIAN IDEAS IN JAPAN

When K. Hashima, superintendent of rolling stock and machinery of the Sapporo District, Japanese Government Railways, was in Canada recently studying the operations of the Canadian National Railways for the benefit of the people of his own country, he was particularly interested in the methods used in clearing snow from the track. In a letter to W. A. Kingsland, general manager of the National system's western region, Mr. Hashima expressed his thanks for the co-operation given him by A. H. Eager, general superintendent, motive power and equipment, Winnipeg, and A. McCowan, assistant general superintendent, car equipment. He went on to describe a new type of snow-fighting machine which he had devised from ideas given him by K. D. McLay, bridge and building master of the Canadian National Railways, Calgary division. The machine, which is the most successful of all the types tried on the Japanese railways, has been named McLay. The photo is seen here in action and the inset is a photograph of Mr. McLay.

great essential to health and necessity. The water supply for towns and villages will require the attention of the government if communities are to thrive.

The old days of the willow wand have gone. A complete water survey is required by expert engineers or water geologists, who will map out the water bearing strata. Why is it not a single water expert engineer can be found? There are plenty of well drillers, but not a single water engineer who can say that water of such and such a quality and quantity will be found when the well is drilled. At present all is a matter of chance.

The University is turning out coal, gas, oil and other mineral engineers, because these are better paying propositions. It behooves the government to institute a Water Commission or at least a water survey for developing industries. Water, as well as energy is required. The former is apt to be overlooked in the scramble for franchises to supply electricity.

Premier Brownlee will likely bring the matter of licensing auto drivers before the House. While his idea of introducing the County System into the Province will be brought up. Unless the special committee appointed by the Union of Alberta Municipalities strike something tangible and succeed in getting a hearing on the Tax Commission report, it looks as if the work of the advisory committee will be assigned to limbo.

Natural Resources, Immigration, State Insurance and Old Age Pensions should keep the Legislature busy until the Convention of the Union sits at Calgary in June, when there will likely be a raft of resolutions to submit on matters of vital interest.—Research Bulletin.

Hydro-Electric For Alberta

By A. J. Cantin—in Research Bulletin

Writing on the possibilities of a Provincial Hydro-Electric Power System for Alberta has been a favorite theme of mine since 1912. To cover this subject thoroughly would require a monthly magazine the size of "Research Bulletin" for about three years. As only a short space has been allotted me a condensed article is the result.

Since 1915 I have urged in and out of season the necessity of a thorough investigation of the power possibilities of our rivers. If we are to believe the Pronouncement of Premier Brownlee at Ponoka in May, the Provincial Government has an investigation under way which should tell us what Alberta can do in the matter of hydro-electric power development.

The financial end of an hydro-electric power development involving as it does the expenditure of tens of millions of dollars can be completed in comparatively short time. Estimate can be made of the probable growth of the system once completed with fairly accurate result, using the experience of other systems.

When it comes to the hydraulic investigation, then it is a matter of several years. First and foremost in importance is the flow of the river under consideration, both the minimum and maximum flow are of great importance, and these measurements should be carried on for at least five years, preferably twenty or more years. Fortunately a large number of our rivers have been gauged more or less continuously since 1912 by the Federal Government and these measurements will play an important part in any hydraulic investigation.

In making this investigation the preliminaries should be done by local engineers as much as possible, but we have no large system where practical experienced men have been trained. Specialists in hydraulics, electrical, and financial, should be called to pass upon any proposed plans. It is much cheaper to call in experts before plans are completed, than it is to call these same experts later to get you out of costly mistakes.

As to who should build and operate the hydro-electric power system, I have no hesitation in saying that the Provincial Government should build and operate a comprehensive system in co-operation with the various municipalities. They and they alone, can do better with this than a private corporation, regardless of what has been said in a recent number of the "Research Bulletin" by the advocate of private ownership, and the full page advertising of the Power Company in the Edmonton daily papers.

If private ownership was such a howling success the United States citizens would not have had to pay in 1928 an average of 7.4 cents per k.w.h. while the people of Ontario paid less than 2 cents per k.w.h. It is regrettable that the Edmonton Daily News-papers will not publish articles stating facts as to what has been done in this country by the various governments.

As to the administration of such a system, I cannot do better than quote what is said on page 2 in a booklet recently issued entitled "The Hydro-Electric Power Commission, its Origin, Administration and Achievements."

"There are certain elements which must lie at the foundation of any movement such as that carried forward by the co-operating municipalities of the Province of Ontario, if such a movement is to succeed. First of all there must be a genuine desire on the part of the citizens to have electrical energy, or whatever the commodity may be supplied to them under such conditions as to what has been done in this country by the various governments."

"It is equally important that the men who undertake to found a public-owned enterprise, especially during its infancy, should be responsible and prominent citizens of good business standing and character, who will inspire and hold public confidence. Such men must be willing to make sacrifice on behalf of the new program, etc. Courage and perseverance are other qualities which are required by those who sponsor public ownership undertaking."

"Technical men having thorough engineering, financial and other training must be engaged who will, with singleness of purpose, gather the facts and assist in forming sound judgment, based upon the data secured. Later their services will be required in guarding, directing and operating the publicly-owned utility. In this connection continuity of administration is essential, and this can only be achieved by freedom from political domination in the formulation of policy and in the appointment of officials."

Again on page 6 of the same pamphlet we find the following:

"The basic conception of the whole municipally-owned, electric undertaking as administered by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is a partnership of municipalities formed to obtain power at cost, each municipality paying its portion of the cost for the service received."

I cannot improve on what has been quoted above, but I must again emphasize the need of a thorough investigation. In matters involving such large expenditure it is wisdom to make haste slowly, make sure of everything before any great amount of money is expended.

KITTEN "RIDES TRUCKS" OF SLEEPING CAR IN MONDAY'S ZERO WEATHER

A pretty little Persian kitten was discovered riding on top of one of the trucks of the sleeping car on the train from Calgary last Monday night, when it arrived in Hanna. The kitten belonged to Brakenham McGee, of the passenger train, and had followed him to the station in Calgary when he went on duty. Presumably nuzzled he was chased by a dog and had taken refuge on top of the car truck. Here she remained until the train pulled out and she must have been afraid to jump. In the prevailing zero weather her fur became frozen to the steel frame work and her little feet and tail became encased in ice. She was unable to move.

U.S. FARMERS ARE WARNED IN GOV'T. REPORT

Washington, Jan. 28.—A warning that the prices for beef cattle have reached their peak and that fresh meat may be supplanted in the food markets of this country by vegetables and dairy products, prediction that competition from Canadian and other countries will weaken the world market for export grain, a hint that the United States government expects to decline in national prosperity within 12 months, all are contained in the "Agricultural Outlook for 1929," prepared by the staff of bureau of agricultural economics, assisted by representatives of agricultural colleges and extension services.

The report predicts that in spite of continued unemployment there will be no significant decrease in the purchasing power for agricultural products in Great Britain next year.

Discussing foreign competition the report says "the tendency toward expansion in wheat production is particularly noticeable in Argentina. It seems probable, however, that the low prices prevailing during the present year may cause some curtailment in wheat acreage for 1929-30." No immediate effect is anticipated from gradually increasing wheat acreage in Russia, says the report. European production in feed grains will be larger in 1929, the report says, and flax seed acreage in Argentina continues to expand.

Regarding beef the report says "the high prices in the United States have stimulated imports in beef and cattle during the past two years, but these imports represented a small proportion of our total beef consumption. An upward trend is noticeable in foreign beef cattle production but no serious competition in our domestic market is anticipated in the next few years."

The statement from the department may have some significance in the light of the surveys made in the tariff committee of the house in the last few days by western American cattle raisers demanding an increase of a hundred per cent in the tariff on feeder cattle and two hundred and fifty per cent in the tariff on fresh beef.

Japan and some parts of China are taking more wheat, says the report. "Our Pacific coast wheat producers should be in a position to share in any increase in demand, but Canada will continue to offer strong competition for Oriental wheat and flour markets."

Discussing the general outlook the report advises farmers "in making long time plans should consider the possible future downturns in the beef and sheep prices, cycles and continuing heavy foreign competition in wheat, general stability and growing demands for dairy products and the tendency for demand for fruits and vegetables to increase faster than population."

Provincial Weekly News Bulletin

(Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, Agricultural Short Course at University)

Announcement is made of a special agricultural short course which will be held at the University of Alberta from February 11 to February 22, 1929. This will be given by the teaching and investigation staff of the College of Agriculture and will provide an opportunity for the farmers of the province to obtain in a short time first-hand knowledge of the work being carried on at the University for the betterment of agriculture in the province. The course is designed to meet the needs of farmers and others who are anxious to secure this information without spending the time or the money involved in taking a complete winter's course.

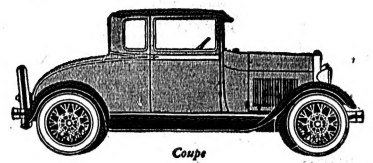

Alberta Has Large Park Areas Out of the 11,674 square miles devoted to national parks throughout the Dominion, Alberta has 8,662 square miles. There are seven park areas in the province, the largest being Jasper National Park with an area of 5,380 square miles. Rocky Mountain National Park is next in size with 2,751 square miles and the remainder is made up as follows: Buffalo Park 197.05 square miles, Elk Island 51 square miles, Neimiskam 8.05 square miles, Watrous 220 square miles.

Work Continues on Highways The gravelling of the section of the Red Trail between Macleod and Lethbridge has been completed by the contractors, and their gravel crushing outfit has been moved to within a few miles of Pincher. From here work is being started on the gravelling of the section of road between that point and Macleod. On the completion of this work, Lethbridge and Macleod will have all-weather roads through to Crow's Nest on the west and Edmonton on the north.

Fairs Association Holds Annual Meeting The annual convention of the Alberta Agricultural Fairs Association will be held in Calgary on February 12 and 13. At this gathering approximately 125 delegates will be in attendance representing agricultural fairs in all parts of the province.

Poultry Industry Rapidly Growing A new high mark in the value of the poultry industry in Alberta has been set during 1928 according to the annual report of the Poultry Commissioner, J. H. Hare. Figures arrived at with the co-operation of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the numbers of the various kinds of poultry on Alberta farms in 1928 are as follows: 1,398,214 turkeys; 300,922 geese; 99,258 ducks; 5,496,120 other fowl; a total of $213,706 as compared with 5,863,000 in 1927. A corresponding increase in the total value of poultry is shown by the fact that this reached $6,095,298 in 1928 as against $4,921,000 in 1927.

Short Course Given for Weeds The attention of farmers and others interested in weed control and eradication is drawn to the fact that a weed inspectors will be offered at the short course specially designed for weed inspectors will be offered at the University of Alberta by the provincial Department of Agriculture from February 26 to March 1. What is a Bargain?

IN this community are hundreds of individuals and families on the watch for an advertisement which will offer them what they want at an advantageous price.

Call them bargain-hunters if you will, but thrifty shoppers would be the better designation. Thrift is a commendable trait and merchants should cater to it.

One family wants a new carpet—the need is not urgent. Another family is looking forward to buying dining-room furniture—it may not be for a twelve month.

One man is thinking of buying himself a watch. One woman a shopping bag; another an umbrella.

All can be made to buy earlier—by advertising. Advertising can make the desire so keen that the bargain is forgotten in the fever for immediate possession.

A NOTE TO MERCHANTS

Stimulate business by the offer of some slow-moving lines of special prices. Brighten up business by advertising some desirable goods at reduced prices. Make advertising banish dull business. Often you can tempt the buyer who is biding his or her time, to buy from you—at a time of your naming.

LEGISLATURE'S HEAVY SCHEDULE

ness, its significance is self-evident. It comes the introduction of a bill providing for establishment of old age pensions as announced by the Premier on Thursday.

Another matter looming up as one of major importance will be the discussion on the offer recently received from the Dominion for the return of the natural resources. They there will be the Municipal Department Act respecting the change in the method of land assessment, as announced a few days ago by Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer and minister of municipal affairs.

Still another major item will be the introduction of Hon. Perren Baker's new School Act.

The momentous and almost revolutionary character of this Act has commended itself to the whole province. The Premier announced that the bill would be actually introduced and given ample time for discussion.

When he expressed no definite statement to the effect that the Act would not be finally approved and placed on the statute books this year, it is felt by those close to the Premier that on account of its sweeping nature that its final enactment likely will be laid over for a year to give all interested individuals and organizations every opportunity to discuss its many phases.

Yet another piece of far-reaching and important legislation will be a new Highways Act, or at least a wholesale revision of that already existing. The new bill will re-classify the system of main and district highways by making provision for another class of road in between these two classifications to be known as a secondary highway system.

At present the main highways are constructed and maintained by the Government, while the district roads are built by the municipalities with the assistance of a grant from the Government.

Under the new act, the secondary system will be built on an equal division of cost basis as between Government and municipality, but maintenance will devolve upon the Government.

In addition, the estimates to be submitted to the House call for increased expenditures for Highways development.

Conjointly with the increased expenditures for highways will be an expected increase in the gasoline tax from three cents as at present to five cents a gallon, with a rebate for industrial purposes.

Regarding amendments to existing highway bills, the Premier pointed out that it was likely the Public Vehicles Act would be so amended as to place closer regulations on the type of truck and heavy machinery to be moved on highways.

In addition there would be placed before the House for consideration the question of licensing motor vehicle drivers. This would be in the form of an amendment and would be introduced mainly to give greater control over the type of individual operating cars with a view to greater public safety, with provision for increased power to magistrates to cancel licenses where there have been convictions for intoxication, infractions of law or where the operator has been shown physically unable to control the car properly.

A Security Frauds Prevention Act will be introduced to replace the old Sale of Shares Act and in the main will be identical with similar acts in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario. It is a direct result of deliberations of the uniformity of laws committee convention held last summer at Regina. Its most important feature is to check up on sales by control by licensing of persons who can go out as a salesman and vend shares and securities.

Then there will be a complete revision of the Municipal Hospitals and the Hospitals Act. A draft of the latter has been sent to the Boards of Trade, the Manufacturers' Association and Labor organizations for comment.

From the standpoint of commercial activity, the most important piece of legislation is a revision of the Companies' Act. There has been no revision along this line since the early days of the Province, although the Dominion and other countries have had their statutes improved to keep pace with industrial developments.

For the last two years, Dr. Walter Scott, cabinet counsel, has been working on the revision, and it is now ready. A draft has been sent out to interested parties.

Among the other items of legislation will be the introduction of the Town Planning Act, which will be sponsored by C. Lionel Gibbs, M.L.A. for Edmonton, who is chairman of the Town Planning Advisory Board. There will be extensive amendments to the Not-Indemnity Act as a result of the deliberations of a advisory committee appointed at the last session of the House and its work during the year.

Several amendments to the Game Act also are on the agenda as part of the Government's program for meeting the indiscriminate slaughter of wild game and branches of the Act. This follows close upon a discussion held last week between the Cabinet, the Alberta Provincial Police and the Game Guardians' Branch.

There will be an amendment to the University Act providing for the enlarging of the board of governors of the University of Alberta from six to nine, exclusive of the chancellor and ex-officio members. This was deemed advisable owing to the increased part the University is playing in the life of the province as a whole.

Some of the municipal acts will be amended as will be the Insurance Act.

The Premier was hopeful that the whole session would be disposed of in between six and seven weeks, but it was dependent entirely on the willingness of the members to work.

HOW BEST TO USE VICKS VAPORUB AFTER THE FLU

Late Winter Colds are Doubly Dangerous this Year; Don't Let Them Get a Start.

AVOID PNEUMONIA OR A SECOND ATTACK OF FLU

If you catch a fresh cold, don't keep it overnight. If possible, go home and go to bed. Take a laxative and a hot lemonade, apply hot wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread on thickly and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed covering so that the vapors, released by the body warmth, may be freely inhaled. At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice.

Repeat this treatment every four hours, eat lightly, and stay in bed until the cold is broken. Complete rest helps the body throw off the cold more quickly.

Mother especially appreciate Vicks for the children. As it is applied externally, it can be used freely and often, without upsetting delicate digestions, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do.

V. BOOHER TO HANG APRIL 24 FOR MURDERS

Edmonton, Jan. 25.—By a verdict reached after five hours deliberation, Vernon Booher was found guilty here Thursday night of the murder of his mother, brother and two hired men, at Mannville, Alta., July 9, 1928, and was sentenced by Mr. Justice Walsh to be hanged at Fort Saskatchewan jail, on April 24 next. The jury retired at 3:55 p.m. Thursday and brought in their verdict at 9:03 p.m.

Booher will expire on the gallows, therefore, one of the most brutal crimes in the history of Alberta, and a murder that has stirred up, through two sensational trials, Dominion-wide interest.

On the evening of July 9, 1928, the bodies of Mrs. Henry Booher and Fred Booher, mother and brother of Vernon, were found in the family's farm home in the Mannville district, while in the outbuildings Wesley Rosyak and Bill Gromby lay dead. Vernon Booher told a story of having heard shots from the farm buildings, and disclaimed any knowledge of the murders.

His first trial on the capital charge was featured by evidence of Dr. Maximilian Langstaff, self-styled Venetian criminologist, by whom the murder weapon was found after provincial police had searched vainly for it for days. Booher was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged, but an appeal was taken, the conviction quashed, and a new trial ordered.

In the second trial, Dr. Langstaff played no part, but confessions, said to have been made to Adjutant Stewart, of the Salvation Army, and Warden McLean, of Fort Saskatchewan jail, were introduced as evidence.

PALLISER AND EMPRESS EXTENSIONS

Over the signature of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has come the announcement that large extensions are to be made to the Palliser Hotel at Calgary and the Empress Hotel at Vancouver and that the additional accommodation will be ready for occupancy before the peak of the present year's tourist traffic. This is good news, not only to the two cities mentioned, but to a vast legion in all corners of the earth to whom the Canadian West is a destination.

When Calgary read of the four additional floors which will add 200 rooms with bath to the city's accommodation it thought of Stampede week, and the thousands who pour in from all points of the compass, clamouring for accommodation and joining the mill of cowboy and cowboy-wives who for one week drop back to the color, romance, gaiety, and sport of the early 80's.

Calgary is a steadily progressive city. Its trade and commerce continue to expand. It is a great city of the plains and the Palliser will be as spacious and beautiful as is fitting to the times.

The "Empress" addition of 270 rooms with bath shown above will also be appreciated by an ever-increasing number to whom the quiet English city of the Pacific coast holds annual appeal. The new wing will be a beautiful structure carrying out the classic type of architecture exemplified by the old building. When, however, its walls become ivy clad and its stone lines and traceries are covered by the foliage it will lose nothing and fit still more with the background of holly hedges and box-wood trimmings. When these two extensions are completed, Canadians may take still more pride in a chain of Canadian owned and operated hotels which extends from coast to coast and in point of view of service, comfort and appointments is second to none in the world.

Two freight trains at Airdrie on the C.P.R.'s Calgary-Edmonton line early Sunday morning.

The dead are, H. Goodman, conductor, S. A. Beldon, trainman, both of Calgary.

Another trainman, R. S. Mowat, also of Calgary, lies seriously injured at the General Hospital.

Goodman, Beldon and Mowat were travelling deadhead to Red Deer. They were in the second caboose of a freight train which was standing at Airdrie, when the engine took water while a following freight, in charge of Conductor J. Trotter and Engineer C. W. Palmer, crashed into the standing train. Both cabooses on the standing train were wrecked. Goodman and Beldon, it is believed, were killed in their sleep.

Regarding any activity in the Edmonton district, the Minister could not speak, as he was still awaiting a reply from the City on the government offer for the city phone system, a matter which was dealt with at Monday evening's City Council meeting, but which was not disposed of.

Plans had been drawn for much development in the Calgary district. It would be erected, which, with other Calgary a new exchange building work, would bring the outlay for the Southern City up to about $100,000.

Preparations were being made for a large amount of rural work, much of a small nature, but which, taken as a whole would mean a strengthening up of the entire system.

The Minister said that the system at present was larger than at any previous time in its history, having no fewer than 60,222 phones in operation as at Dec. 31 last, whereas, the high figure for time up to and including 1927, was 60,000 phones.

MAY NOT PRESS SCHOOLS BILL That the bill proposed to be brought down by Hon. Perren Baker at the coming session of the legislature, under the provisions of which the rural school districts of the province would be reorganized, with the costs met by a general system of taxation, will not be pressed at the session which opens on January 31 is the generally expressed opinion in political circles—and among the rank and file of the U.F.A. members.

Although the recent convention of U.F.A. delegates passed a resolution endorsing the scheme outlined by the minister of education, the vote was in no way unanimous, some 161 delegates of the 513 registered voting against the proposed changes. For this reason, and also because it is desired to get a better expression of opinion from all over the province, it is considered more than likely that the bill will only be given first and second readings at the present session, and allowed to remain tabled, with the understanding that it will again be brought up for final decision at the session of 1930.

Edmonton, Jan. 30.—Considerable expansion will be made in the Alberta Government telephone system during 1929, according to Hon. Vernon W. Smith, Minister of Railways and Telephones.

TELL EPIC STORY OF RESCUE OF 32 FROM SINKING STEAMER

New York, Jan. 24.—Nine men who willingly put out into a storm-crazy north Atlantic ocean, in a small lifeboat, late Wednesday night, and the 32 hullmates, later named, who dragged back to safety from the sinking Italian freighter, Florida, were resting aboard the liner America to-night, on route to New York.

The nine-heroes of one of the most amazing marine rescues of American history were volunteers from the America, under the command of Chief Officer Harry Manning.

In the steady beam of the liner's searchlights, they elminated a forty-hour battle with the sea and left to the wrath of the gale only the shattered hull of the Florida, without even so much as a pet animal aboard.

"It was a splendid piece of work," said Captain George Friel of the America, in his report to the United States line.

But to the world which had waited a day and a night for the rescue ship, it was of such magnitude that even superlatives sounded commonplace.

Captain Friel told today, in the simple and convincing words of a sailor, the story of a long race against tumultuous seas to the side of the Florida at night and in a howling storm.

He told of the call for volunteers and of response; of the dangerous launching of a lifeboat and the slow removal of the stranded sailors by means of a rope thrown from the Florida to the lifeboat.

ENORMOUS LOSSES FROM WHEAT RUST

Stem rust is regarded today as the most serious problem in wheat production in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. It is believed to have caused an average annual loss during the past twenty-five years of at least $25,000,000. In one season of 1916 the estimated loss to the wheat crop of the Prairie Provinces due to rust is believed to have been $200,000,000. Rust is caused by a fungus parasite, the life history of which is fully explained in a new bulletin, numbered 106, issued by the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa. This publication, by D. L. Bailey, Senior Plant Pathologist at the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, bears the title "Stem Rust in Western Canada." The field surveys which have been carried out to determine the origin and spread of stem rust, indicate that the earliest invasions each year are due to rust spores that are brought by winds to the Prairie Provinces from the wheat fields of the United States. According to this bulletin, published by the Division of Botany, the Experimental Farms are actively engaged on a plant breeding programme by which it is hoped to build up strains of heavy yielding and early varieties of good milling wheat resistant to the most destructive varieties of rust. About twenty different crosses are now being carried on, some of which have reached the fourth generation. As relief by this procedure cannot be expected for several years the Department has been working upon treatments of the crop that offer hope in controlling rust. The bulletin shows an aeroplane in operation spreading sulphur across a wheat field as a means of defeating the rust attack in its destructive work. This bulletin, which is available at the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, recommends to those who find that they can no longer grow some of the older varieties of wheat with profit because of rust, to make a trial of one of the earlier varieties that may be recommended to them by their nearest Experimental Farm or Agricultural College.

PREMIER SURE THAT NATURAL RESOURCES WILL BE RETURNED

Calgary, Jan. 30.—Alberta's prospects for acquiring control of the natural resources within this province were never more resolute than they were Tuesday, as Premier J. E. Brownlee told the members of the Calgary Rotary Club at their luncheon Tuesday. Reviewing the issue from the time the province was created in 1905, Hon. Mr. Brownlee urged in conclusion that the case of Alberta for the transfer of resources plus the present annual cash subsidy was stronger than that of either of the other prairie provinces, although in each instance the case was strong enough to warrant favorable action.

He said that Alberta and Saskatchewan had worked in conjunction until the time of Premier Stewart, who adopted a separate policy for Alberta on account mainly of the mineral resources in this province. The present government thought this policy wise and had adopted it. The premier mentioned that the Dominion government had shown much willingness to negotiate and expressed confidence in a successful consummation to the efforts of many years.

Premier Brownlee stated that the subsidy now received by Alberta in lieu of resources was only about two per cent of the dominion's excise and customs collections in this province and that 25 per cent of the mineral lands were forever been alienated from Alberta. One example was the Royalty No. 4 well on C.P.R. land. From this province would never receive a cent of royalty, this going to the C.P.R.

CAMROSE WILL SELL UTILITIES CALGARY POWER

Camrose, Alta., Jan. 28.—Interest in a proposition to sell the municipal utilities and anticipation of an opportunity to fully discuss the terms of a proposed agreement with the Calgary Power Company, Limited, were the reasons for the best attended annual meeting of the ratepayers ever held in the town of Camrose, when the burgesses met on Friday evening in the Camrose Town hall. It was decided to sell the utilities to the Calgary Power Company for $170,000.

After the general business of the meeting had been reviewed, the matter of selling the municipal utilities was presented for consideration. Until recently the town supply of water had been obtained entirely from deep wells. For the past two or three years these wells had been gradually failing in the production of water and it had become necessary to temporarily increase the supply from the storage dam fed by Stony Creek. In the meantime the council had spent many hours trying to solve the difficulty and endeavoring to find an adequate supply from some source other than wells. Several engineers had been commissioned to investigate the situation and advise as to what might be done. Early in 1928 intimations were made to the council by two different companies that proposals would be submitted for the purchase of the municipal electric system. The electric light and power plant has always been operated at a satisfactory profit to the town and the council felt that there was no particular inducement to sell the utility.

Later it developed that in order to acquire the electric system the companies were willing to negotiate for

PREMIER SURE THAT NATURAL RESOURCES WILL BE RETURNED

Calgary, Jan. 30.—Alberta's prospects for acquiring control of the natural resources within this province were never more resolute than they were Tuesday, as Premier J. E. Brownlee told the members of the Calgary Rotary Club at their luncheon Tuesday. Reviewing the issue from the time the province was created in 1905, Hon. Mr. Brownlee urged in conclusion that the case of Alberta for the transfer of resources plus the present annual cash subsidy was stronger than that of either of the other prairie provinces, although in each instance the case was strong enough to warrant favorable action.

He said that Alberta and Saskatchewan had worked in conjunction until the time of Premier Stewart, who adopted a separate policy for Alberta on account mainly of the mineral resources in this province. The present government thought this policy wise and had adopted it. The premier mentioned that the Dominion government had shown much willingness to negotiate and expressed confidence in a successful consummation to the efforts of many years.

Premier Brownlee stated that the subsidy now received by Alberta in lieu of resources was only about two per cent of the dominion's excise and customs collections in this province and that 25 per cent of the mineral lands were forever been alienated from Alberta. One example was the Royalty No. 4 well on C.P.R. land. From this province would never receive a cent of royalty, this going to the C.P.R.

CAMROSE WILL SELL UTILITIES CALGARY POWER

Camrose, Alta., Jan. 28.—Interest in a proposition to sell the municipal utilities and anticipation of an opportunity to fully discuss the terms of a proposed agreement with the Calgary Power Company, Limited, were the reasons for the best attended annual meeting of the ratepayers ever held in the town of Camrose, when the burgesses met on Friday evening in the Camrose Town hall. It was decided to sell the utilities to the Calgary Power Company for $170,000.

After the general business of the meeting had been reviewed, the matter of selling the municipal utilities was presented for consideration. Until recently the town supply of water had been obtained entirely from deep wells. For the past two or three years these wells had been gradually failing in the production of water and it had become necessary to temporarily increase the supply from the storage dam fed by Stony Creek. In the meantime the council had spent many hours trying to solve the difficulty and endeavoring to find an adequate supply from some source other than wells. Several engineers had been commissioned to investigate the situation and advise as to what might be done. Early in 1928 intimations were made to the council by two different companies that proposals would be submitted for the purchase of the municipal electric system. The electric light and power plant has always been operated at a satisfactory profit to the town and the council felt that there was no particular inducement to sell the utility.

Later it developed that in order to acquire the electric system the companies were willing to negotiate for the purchase of both the electric and waterworks systems. The result has been that the council decided to accept the proposal of the Calgary Power Company, Limited, whose offer for the two utilities was $170,000. The water rates to be charged by the company will remain the same as those which have been in effect for the past several years. The new electric light and power rates will probably lower the aggregate cost of electric energy by thirty per cent to the consumers of the department, based upon the present consumption of electric current, but the actual demand will doubtless be very much increased.

The Board of Public Utility Commissioners has approved of the proposed agreement between the town of Camrose and the Calgary Power Company, Limited, and the necessary bylaw will be submitted to the ratepayers for ratification on February 11 at the same time as the municipal elections take place.

SUES C.N.R. FOR BIG SUM AFTER ACCIDENT

Claiming negligence by the servants of the defendant, David Dowser, salesman for the Dunlop Rubber and Tire Company, Limited, filed a statement of claim in the Supreme Court Thursday morning against the Canadian National Railways and is asking for general damages of $5,000 and special damages of $1,312.50.

The plaintiff alleges that on July 12, 1928, he was driving his car at a C.N.R. crossing near Meeting Creek, Alta., and that a train, with the locomotive at the far end of the crossing, backed into the machine damaging his auto and injuring the plaintiff. It is alleged that there was no one at the rear of the train to warn persons about to travel over the crossing.

Synopsis of the Proposed Changes in the School Act

The proposed changes in Alberta's school system will perhaps be the most discussed subject this winter in connection with the Legislative session. Hon. Perron Baker has, in a late issue of the U.P.A. magazine, a very complete explanation. In introduction Mr. Baker explains that the buying of education for a man's children is no less a problem than the selling of his wheat. He has learned the value of co-operative methods in wheat selling. May these co-operative methods in education not be fruitful of greater results, than the present individualistic method.

At present there are 3000 rural schools practicing individualistic education. The weaknesses are apparent.

1. The inability to hold rural schools more ambitious and able teachers. Seven hundred teachers annually leave the profession, their places to be filled by seven hundred recruits. Rural teaching offers little promotion. Ten years' experience furnishes little extra recognition. Many children receive their entire training from inexperienced youth.

2. It is impossible intelligently to select the ideal teacher for a community from a sheet of written applications. The tragedy of a very good teacher in the wrong type of school is frequent.

3. The present system lacks supervision. Much money is wasted to ratemakers, through the lack of a little intelligent guidance to the youthful teachers who lack merely experience.

4. There is no effective means of eliminating the inefficient. Teachers are too often merely shuffled round, the inefficient finding a position readily in another quarter.

The proposed changes to remedy some of these faults would establish large co-operative units, dividing the 3000 rural school districts into 20 divisions of 150 schools each. Each division to have a board of five directors elected by ratemakers by wards. These boards will engage, place and dismiss the 150 teachers in their division. In other respects the local boards will function as before. Each division will have a superintendent and two assistants for supervision, the superintendent advising the board.

The local district will retain its financial responsibilities except that of paying the teacher.

For the payment of the teacher's salaries, the most favored is to unite all the twenty divisions in one taxing area, with a general board consisting of the chairman of each division board. The general board fixes rate of pay, draws up its budget and fixes a common mill rate for the area. Pay cheques would be issued from the general office.

The advantages of this are:

1. Greater financial stability. Regional crop failures, etc., affect single areas, but not the general province.

2. A more general distribution of cost.

3. The application of a general salary schedule, adequate to the responsibility of the profession.

4. A lessening of responsibilities for each division.

The results expected are:

1. Full time operation of all elementary schools.

2. Better provision for secondary education. The large scale co-operation would make possible rural high school centres especially adapted to the needs of rural young people.

3. A fairer distribution of educational cost.

4. The retaining of more of the experienced teachers, through more attractive conditions, thorough supervision, greater stability in holding teachers, the elimination of the inefficient.

5. Greater harmony in rural districts through the removal of the source of champion neighbor quarrels, the choice of teacher.

6. A simplification of tax collecting.

PLAIN ENGLISH VS. LATIN

(The Research Bulletin)
The following article written by W.F.H. of Red Deer and published in the Red Deer Advocate recently is worth reading and may help us to check up on what the late Dr. Isaac, father of Lord Beaconsfield, described in the House of Commons as "an Exuberance of Verbosity":

"I knew a lady, when I lived in the Old Country, about whom I once heard a rather funny story. This lady was a school teacher, and I should explain that she was a real lady. In fact, like the people one hears of who would fall over backward if they were any more upright, she was so 'ladylike' it almost hurt. But she had somehow got hold of that pestilent idea current among very refined people that insinuation is more refined than straightforward English — innuendo politer than truth. The story was that on a warm day, when a little girl came in out of breath and said, 'I'm all of a sweat!' this lady gently reproved her for being English and honest, saying, 'My dear! Horrors sweat, men perspire, and ladies are all of a glow.' The lady's cousin who happened to be present when I heard the story, made the simple comment, 'Darned old fool!' in a tone of amused tolerance. I felt perhaps just as much amusement but less tolerance. It is a crime against childhood, I consider, to teach the growing lads and lasses to despise their mother tongue and talk in roundabout phrases. Our language is being twisted and spoiled by this silly idea that Latin derivatives are better than their Anglo-Saxon equivalent. An elongated agricultural implement is a spade, and might as well be called a spade. It is better English to say a man bought or built a house than to speak of his having purchased or erected a residence.

This last, little Latinism is very common, among western weeklies, the Advocate being very fond of it, although not so bad as some I know. When the editor reads this let us hope he will be good enough not to gnash his teeth and refuse to publish this article! English is one of the richest and most hospitable languages in being, welcoming and assimilating words from nearly every imaginable source. A wide and deeper knowledge of its origins and the words they have provided is much to be commended. But we should not lose sight of the fact that it is basically Anglo-Saxon; and the purist and best literary English is the English in which words of Anglo-Saxon root do most abound.

So I appeal to teachers, editors, writers, public speakers, and all whose work is such that they have in their hands the moulding of popular speech, by example and precept to keep the mother tongue solidly based on its Nordic foundation—to use and teach these words and idioms that belong most fundamentally to it, to use and teach the habit of direct and straightforward English, which, in the final analysis, is just as polite and refined as the diction of so-called 'classical' extraction—and, finally, never to use or teach a Latin, Greek, German or French word or idiom when one of homely Anglo-Saxon birth will serve as well.

Charles Lamb, one of the most outstanding of our great English stylists, although a profound scholar and a first-class Latinist, wrote in a

On the first sign of any weakness or pain in the back Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They are a remedy for the kidneys only and make right for the rest of the trouble.

Mrs. Lawrence Proulx, Galtville, Ont., writes:—"I suffered for many months with severe pains in my back. I could not rest day or night, and I had no ambition to do anything."

"One day I saw where you advertised Doan's Kidney Pills for pains in the back and I lost no time in buying a box. I have taken three boxes and found that they did me a wonderful amount of good by giving relief right away."

style predominantly Anglo-Saxon. The purity of his prose style is worthy of emulation. All our greatest writers and speakers have a preference for English over Latin, especially in the realm of poetry. Let us get away from this pedantry that poses as culture, this fondness for long-winded words that go over the heads of the simple, and back to the purer and sweeter English of our forefathers."

HOPE TO FORM ALBERTA HEALTH UNITS SHORTLY

Edmonton, Jan. 27.—Definite action toward the establishment in the near future of a number of health units in Alberta is hoped for by provincial authorities in view of the recent statement of the federal minister of health that a scheme for subsidizing them is under negotiation. Hon. Geo. Hoadley announced today that the provincial health department had not been notified officially of the proposed action, but he hopes that the report from Ottawa is correct and that the scheme may soon take effect.

What it means is that rural Alberta will then have organized health units now enjoyed by the cities in the way of health measures. Three or four municipal districts, with the towns included therein, will be formed into a health district, which will have a central building for executive and laboratory purposes, a properly equipped staff, and full responsibility for district health work. The cost is estimated at from $10,000 to $14,000 a year for each unit.

The functions of these health units will be the control of contagious disease, medical examination of school children, child welfare, pre-natal work and maternal death rate, sanitation, water and milk supplies, control of tuberculosis and health education in general. Close account and investigation of vital statistics will also be a part of the work.

WESTERN WHEAT POOL PLAN MAY BE ADOPTED BY ENGLISH FARMERS

London, Jan. 25.—The example of Canadian farmers' enterprise in establishing a wheat pool has evidently made so profound an impression on the British ministry of agriculture that in an official report issued on the marketing of wheat, barley and oats in England and Wales it is proposed English farmers should set up a selling agency, supported by some form of growers' contract.

British farmers are recommended also to produce a uniformity of quality in their cereals, and to standardize the grain offered for sale. The main point, however, that the report emphasizes is a drastic reduction of the number of sellers on the market and a stemming of the present rush of sales immediately after the harvest.—Calgary Herald.

Hart Parr Tractors by the Trainload Pouring into Alberta Now

To cut the cost of producing farm crops in Western Canada, a full trainload of 15x36 Hart Parr Tractors, consisting of 30 cars, with four tractors on each car, landed in Calgary on December 26, of which I received one carload, consisting of four 15x36 tractors. Another trainload left the factory on January 12 1929, billed through to Edmonton, over the C.N.R. via Minneapolis, Winnipeg to Calgary and Edmonton. Still another trainload will leave the factory, which is at Charles City, Iowa, on Jan. 18, via C.N.R. for Alberta points.

A group of Hart Parr dealers, co-operating with the Hart Parr Alberta Co., are responsible for these splendid shipments of labor-saving, cost reducing. Hart Parr three speed tractors. These tractors are built in Charles City, Iowa, U.S.A., by the Hart Parr Tractor Co., and are distributed in Alberta by the Hart Parr Alberta Co. Ltd.

The Hart Parr is the first successful tractor ever manufactured, and the Hart Parr Co. has continuously built tractors and have today the world's best tractor, as shown by the Nebraska Agricultural State test of tractors. We have received a carload of these tractors, and invite the public to look them over when in Wetaskiwin. We also have another carload on the road, which should arrive this week.

See these for yourself. The Hart Parr tractor is guaranteed to burn the cheapest fuel obtainable, and is guaranteed to burn it successfully for the life of the engine, and you all know that the life of a two cylinder horizontal engine will last much longer than the vertical high speed motor. Remember that the Hart Parr tractor is the product of the largest sole manufacturers of gas and oil tractors in the world, and have built tractors longer than anyone else.

We invite you to call when in town and look over this world's best labor-saving, long life, Hart Parr tractor for yourself.

POOR SPELLING

Finkelstein was a good customer of Abe & Mawrus, manufacturers of ladies' dresses. He was, however, getting lax about his payment of invoices and Abe suggested that Mawrus write him a strong but diplomatic letter calling his attention to this laxity. Mawrus worked for several hours over the letter, then showed it to Abe for his approval. After reading the letter over carefully, Abe said: "By golly, dot's a vunderful letter—strong and to the point, and not personal or insulting. But you got a couple of mistakes in it, Mawrus. 'Dirty' you should spell with only 'y' and 'i', and 'cockroach' begins with a 'c'."

Boys at Red Deer, Alberta, earned Christmas pocket money by trapping. They brought in nearly 400 weasel skins in less than a fortnight and also coyotes, rabbit, squirrel and cat skins.

Further experiments with super-phosphates from the smelter at Trail, B.C., will be conducted in 1929 by the Alberta Department of Agriculture in conjunction with the Dominion Experimental Farms and C. Upwards of four millions of dollars will be expended this season in effecting alterations, improvements, and extensions to the Palliser Hotel at Calgary, Alberta, and the new Hotel at Victoria, British Columbia. E. W. Daulty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway has just announced that four additional floors will be added to the former and an entirely new wing will be extended from the latter, bringing these two famous hosteleries even more up to date.

A Negro preacher walked into the office of a Southern newspaper and said: "Misto Billie, they is forty-two of my congregation which subscribe to 'yo' paper. Do that entitle me to have a church in 'yo' Saladay issue?" "Sit down and write," said the editor. "I thank you." And this is the notice the minister wrote: "Mount Memorial Baptist Church, the Rev. John Walker, pastor. Preaching morning and evening. In the promulgation of the gospel, three books are necessary: The Bible, the hymn book, and the pocketbook. Come to-morrow and bring 'all three.'"

Twenty head of holstein cattle from Alberta pure bred herds have arrived in Vancouver over Canadian Pacific Railway lines for shipment to Japan. These cattle were collected for a Japanese buyer by deputy minister of agriculture Craig. Quite a few such shipments have been made in this port recently. The stock for Japan was selected through the Alberta government and the cattle were selected from various herds in the province. Several of the animals or their immediate ancestors have records of 20,000 pounds of milk per year and all of them are from high producing dams.

A monster black bear weighing over 400 pounds that stalked up-right through the woods seeking what or whom it might devour and which had no forepaws, has just been trapped in New Brunswick, according to Dave Ogilvy, well-known trapper and outfitter. The beast used to rifle all the garbage dumps and refuse heaps in the neighbourhood of Plaster Rock, on the line of the C. P. R., and was caught by means of a trap hidden under dead leaves and some old paint tins. Examination of the body showed that its forefeet were crippled, either by deformity at birth or by an accident, and that it must have walked about on its hind feet. Only tracks of the rear paws had been found, and considerable mystery existed as to the murderer. Seymour Traffon and Jock Ogilvy caught the bear, whose skin measured over seven feet in length.

COMMUNICATION

(We do not necessarily endorse the sentiments advanced by this or any other correspondent under this heading—Ed.)

Nanpanton Farm, Wetaskiwin, January 26th, 1929.

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:
PAYMENTS TO M.P.'s
In anger, apparently, Mr. H. G. Young contemptuously dismisses the points I raised in regard to increasing M.P.'s indemnities, which he insists on erroneously calling salaries, and he quite misses the salient point of the whole argument.

The underlying principle of parliamentary representation, is the selection of the people's representatives out of the ordinary life of the people. Candidates can be judged in no better way than by their demonstrated ability in the conduct of their own affairs. Compensation is given for loss incurred in attending to public business. Hence the word "indemnity."

To make politics unduly remunerative would be to make politics more profitable than ordinary business; to create a class of professional politicians whose only interest would be political expediency, and whose main care would be their own political fortune. From a parliament of such, the good Lord save us, is my prayer.

To entrench oneself, even at public expense, under such a system would not, I think, merit the term despicable; but to advocate and set up such a system would be, unquestionably, foolish.

My political standards, I would repeat, are, at least, as high as his own, I do not worship at the shrine of a political god, nor espouse a cause blindly, and I invariably do my own thinking.

Yours sincerely,
J. H. HODSON

FAR AND NEAR

It is reported that the British Liberal Party, at the request of David Lloyd George, is to send a delegation to the United States to investigate the working of the prohibitory law. If the report is favorable, then there is a possibility of putting a prohibition plank into the Liberal platform next year, or shortly afterwards.

The Byrd flagship, City of New York, which has sailed for the Antarctic, carried three tons of bacon, fifteen tons of flour, and a ton of jellies, jams and marmalades, for use on the difficult trip. On the great ice barrier, we are told, there is no animal larger than a spider, so most of the food must be taken by the gallant explorers themselves.

There is foreign money invested in Canada to the extent of $5,500,000,000 and of this fifty-six per cent belongs to the United States and forty per cent to Great Britain. The investors, are, we think, very wise in choosing this country to place their money in. We are not boastful, but we cannot help recognizing facts. Canadians never boast; they don't need to.

The Rev. G. Stanley Russell, Chairman of the Congregational Union of London, England, has revived the possibility of combining the nonconformist churches of England into one United Free Church of England. The eyes of the ecclesiastical world are on The United Church of Canada, and more and more they are asking why this union cannot be carried out elsewhere than in this country.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips' Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal. And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief—Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

HE "TALKED IT OFF"

Some years ago a boy named Hardy heard Rev. W. S. Griffin speak in public, and was greatly impressed. Going home, he said to his mother: "Did that man read what he said, or did he talk it right off?"

"Well," said she, "I guess he talked it without any book."
"If that is so," replied young Hardy, "I will talk it off like that some day myself." He applied himself to securing an education, using every opportunity of speaking in public, and by-and-by became a public man known as Hon. A. S. Hardy, Premier of Ontario. So fluent and effective was he as a speaker that he was sometimes spoken of as "Little Thunder."

There is much encouragement in such an incident for those who are desirous of becoming speakers. Many of the greatest orators began to speak in the most diffident and halting way, but determination and practice overcame all difficulties.

there is no better training school than the Young People's Society. It affords a fine opportunity for learning how to speak extemporaneously. Do not be satisfied with continually reading papers and essays at the meetings, but try to express your thoughts without writing, by "talking it off."

YOUR SENTIMENTS?

I would rather have one little rose
From the garden of a friend,
Than have the choicest flowers
When my stay on earth must end.

I would rather have the kindest words
And a smile that I can see,
Than flattery when my heart is still,
And this life has ceased to be.

I would rather have a loving smile
From friends I know are true,
Than tears shed 'round my casket
When this world I bid adieu.

Bring me all the flowers today,
Whether pink or white or red,
I'd rather have one blossom now
Than a truckload when I'm dead.

A Bid For Freedom:

THE trend of business is towards amalgamation and centralization—building up vast organizations through combinations of many small ones. In the face of this development the farmer as a single unit has found himself isolated, helpless and weak.

The first step taken by producers to remedy their position was the formation of producers' co-operatives, of which the Wheat Pool is the most notable example. In the Pool, the strength of unity has been demonstrated time and again.

For the protection of himself and his family, and for the advancement of agriculture in general, every wheat producer in Alberta should join the Alberta Wheat Pool.

There is no question but that the Wheat Pool has corrected abuses, narrowed grain trade profits, stabilized markets, and lessened disastrous speculation for the benefit of ALL wheat growers in Canada.

Undoubtedly the Wheat Pool has paid higher average prices to its members than the Grain Trade has paid to non-Poolers.

The Pool elevator system, operated on a non-profit basis, has given its patrons service at cost, fair weights and grades, and a measure of protection never before accorded.

To Those Who Have Not Yet Joined The Wheat Pool:

ARE you going to build and maintain private grain and elevator systems forever and provide abundant profits for stock-holders year after year?

OR are you going to join the Wheat Pool ranks and work for your own interests and the interest of your Pool neighbors?

WETASKIWIN COUPLE CELEBRATE TWENTY-FIFTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A very enjoyable afternoon and evening were spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nelson on January 27th, when a number of old friends and relatives gathered to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

After a very enjoyable lunch had been served, a "Mock Wedding" was staged. Mrs. Nelson, dressed in the style of 25 years ago, entered the reception room on the arm of Mr. Frank Lucas to the strains of "Here Comes the Bride," played by Mrs. M. L. Higginson. Mr. Nelson, also in old time attire, was ably supported by Mr. M. Jevne. Mrs. Jevne attended the bride.

The bride's grandchildren, Misses Pearl and June Lucas, held the train while the ceremony was being performed.

Large Pimples Came Out on Her Back and Shoulders

CHESTERWOLD

Our Indian summer has come to an end with the mercury dropping to 40 degrees below zero, but we are in hopes that it may help to bring most of the sickness to an end which had such a hold on nearly all in the district.

We are glad to report little David Jorgenson is recovering from an attack of pneumonia, which has kept him confined to bed for several weeks.

Very sorry to hear of Glen Lindsey's accident, while playing hockey on Chesterwold rink, but pleased to report it was not serious.

Not many coyotes to be seen in Chesterwold district since L. Doran and son, with their hounds, have made such a raid on them.

Mr. Eddie Jorgenson took a trip to Rimby last week to visit his home.

Mr. Charles Flester shipped a car load of cattle to Edmonton last week.

Mr. Bert Lamb has left our district for parts unknown. He sure will be greatly missed by his large circle of friends and neighbors.

Mr. Charlie Chaplin and sons are busy hauling tamarac posts into Ponoka.

Wedding bells are ringing. Stop, look and listen.

W. C. T. U.

Wetaskiwin Union will observe Frances Willard Day by holding a parlor meeting at the home of Mrs. A. A. Ellis, Tuesday, February 12th, at 8 o'clock. The subject of the evening is the League of Nations, and everyone interested in peace and arbitration is cordially invited to be present to listen to a good address and enjoy a social hour, when refreshments will be served.

C.G.I.T. NOTES

G.I.R.L. GUIDE NOTES

At the last meeting of the C.G.I.T. further arrangements were made for the holding of the tea on February 9, and also for the holding of a Mother and Daughter Banquet in the First United Church on Friday evening of this week. The Senior group of the C.G.I.T. was well represented at the conference held at Ponoka last week, the following being in attendance: Della Marr, Jane Thomas, Lenna Didrikson, Evelyn Irvin and Florence French. They report having had a good time and returned full of enthusiasm. The conference commenced Friday evening, with the registration, community singing, the welcoming of delegates, election of officers and an address on "And take your soul on a pilgrimage." Saturday morning the girls divided into groups for the discussion of certain topics, after which their conclusions were reported to the general meeting. Saturday afternoon was given to recreation, and in the evening a bountiful banquet was served, during which the Ponoka girls gave a dramatization, and Miss F. Borden of Wetaskiwin, gave an excellent address on "Pilgrimage All." The conference concluded Sunday afternoon, with the secretary's report and an address on "Dauntless Pilgrimage."

The weekly meeting of the Wetaskiwin Girl Guides was held last Wednesday in the Armoury. It was opened as usual with Guide prayer. Then a game was played. Miss Ward taught the girls some new songs and then they were led in physical training and marching by Miss Dickson. Two of the new recruits who passed their Tenderfoot tests were presented with their pins. The Guides then took the horseshoe formation and were dismissed.

Gas in the Stomach Is Truly Dangerous

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic gastritis and dangerous ulcers. Food ferments and rots, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the heart.
